RE: First Touch for information and review: Consideration of replacing the aging, decrepit, sudsing sanitizer that drives clean up crews crazy

Background:

The current 21-year-old under-the-counter sanitizer has a long history of maintenance issues and continual sudsing regardless of how many technicians come to visit it or how many hours members spend trying to get the suds gone.

A cursory internet search for suitable replacements shows a range of $3,000 to $5,000 for this appliance.

Recommendation:

Appoint someone to look into different specific model options based on our current space restrictions.

Details:

First Touch for information sharing.
